Goal Clearance		Goalkeepers may only distribute the ball with the hand/arm for goal clearances. The ball may not be thrown over the halfway line without touching the court or a player first. An indirect free kick is awarded to the opposing team on the mid-field line where the ball last crossed it.
Ball hitting ceiling		If the ball hits some part of the ceiling above the court, the opponent takes a kick-in at a point on the touchline closest to where the contact with the ceiling occurred.
Pass back (two-touch)		Once a keeper possesses/plays the ball (including from a restart), they may not receive it a second time in their own half from a teammate unless an opponent has touched the ball since the keeper's last touch. There is no restriction if the keeper is in the opponent's half.
